Bernd Ehle joins the advisory board of Africa Construction Law

Africa Construction Law (ACL) is a pan-African thought leadership initiative to promote the development of construction law and practice in Africa. It brings together construction lawyers and dispute resolution practitioners, contractors, consultants, engineers, and government agencies to build expertise in construction law among the legal profession in Africa and to promote the avoidance and resolution of construction disputes.

Bernd joins a group of 15 international specialists who support this initiative with their expertise and strategic advice and together help to shape the future of construction law on the African continent.
